Title: Flight Of The Griffin
 Artist: GRIFFIN

« Flight Of The Griffin » NOW ON VINYL!

In all ranking lists about „US Metal of the Eighties“ you can find Griffin at some point, even though they only released two albums. Similar to Cirith Ungol or Manilla Road the style is very peculiar. In the case of Griffin this is also caused by the unusual vocals. The debut album „Flight Of The Griffin“ (1984, Shrapnel Rec.) is still rather simple. Songs like „Heavy Metal Attack“, „Hawk The Slayer“ and the title track are regarded as classics today. In addition, the album has a quite powerful sound for an indie production. The successor „Protectors Of The Lair“ (1986, Steamhammer/SPV) made it much more difficult for the fans to love it. The sound was much harder and faster and had a musty, mushy sound. That’s why metalheads still like the debut much more than the successor.

Now, in close cooperation with singer William McKay and band manager Joe Martino, the theme „Protectors Of The Lair“ was especially pushed. The original 24-track tapes were re-recorded at the end of 2019 and rebalanced as well as remixed in 2020, then remastered by Patrick Engel (High Roller, Metal Blade, etc.). Now, for the first time, „Protectors Of The Lair“ is released in new splendor and shows how the album should have sounded already in 1986.

This 3-CD box also contains the original mix, which was remastered for the first time (by Patrick Engel), just like the debut. But that’s not all! Each CD includes some demo and live recordings, being partially unknown even in collector’s circles and bring each silver disc to over 70 minutes. The booklet contains many rare, never seen photos, a recent interview with singer William McKay, as well as further pictures and information. There is no better way to appreciate the work of a cult band!

Title: TOYS / Die Dreaming

Artist: JD ALLEN

Of JD Allen, Giovanni Russonello in The New York Times said, “Mr. Allen has become one of today’s most exciting tenor saxophonists not by trying to spotlight his own virtuosity... but by defining a new way of playing in a group.” Allen’s current release, “Toys / Die Dreaming,” is his 14th as a leader and builds on his already rich recorded legacy. His compositions exhibit his philosophy of providing short melodies as the basis of both solo and group improvisation; “Get in and get out,” as Allen likes to say. This gives his music a remarkable ever-transforming feel, as if the improvisation was actually part of the composition itself. To bring his music to life, Allen requires players of the utmost talent and creativity and he has certainly found them in bassist, Ian Kenselaar and drummer, Nic Cacioppo. “I found the bad boys of this generation, as far as I’m concerned,” says Allen, “guys who are not afraid to dip their toe in the avant-garde a little bit, and then turn around and play the tradition.” But tradition to Allen is a development, an unending arc of creativity which begins at the dawn of jazz and to which he is the latest contributor to the music’s evolution.

Title: The Latin Side Of Horace SilverArtist: CONRAD HERWIG

In 1996 trombonist Conrad Herwig unveiled the first installment in the popular "Latin Side of" series with the Grammy-nominated The Latin Side of John Coltrane. Since that time other volumes have followed with the current release, The Latin Side of Horace Silver being the latest addition to the franchise. Herwig has assembled an all-star band of his favorite colleagues including tenor sax great Igor Butman along with special guest, the Grammy-winning Dominican pianist, Michel Camilo. "The great thing about jazz is that nothing is so sacred that it can't be recomposed and reinvented and rediscovered," said Herwig, who goes on to prove it by refracting the music of the legendary Horace Silver through his own love of Afro-Cuban and Afro-Caribbean rhythms.
